Google installs the InVue IR Ecosystem™ in their first official stores.

Google and Best Buy have collaborated for the first Google shop-in-shop openings in North America. These four stores are brand new for Google, and InVue products are being used to secure all merchandise that requires power.

InVue worked with the Google for six months, helping them elevate the presentation of each of their products to a premium level. Google selected InVue based on the elegant design of InVue devices and their ability to enhance Google's brand image. In addition to making Google's product the hero, InVue products are also easy to use providing an exceptional customer experience and superior protection. InVue has also been selected for the Google shop-in-shop stores in Canada as well as their pop-up business in New York City.
